

New Qamea Jungle Spa Huge Success

Posted: Saturday 4 October, 2008

Following a year of planning and eight months of construction, we recently completed the newest addition to our resort, the Qamea Jungle Spa. Built in traditional Fiji architecture, the Jungle Spa consists of a relaxation reception bure and five individual separate treatment bures all perched on a cliff at the edge of the jungle. Guests can now unwind with a complimentary foot massage before their treatment, and during their treatment will be lulled into complete relaxation as they listen to both the sounds of the Pacific Ocean lapping on the beach and a myriad of native birds in the jungle. With the completion of our Jungle Spa, and to meet ever growing demand for our spa services, we have added three additional Guinot spa therapists so that our spa team now consists of six. Qamea Resort was the first resort in Fiji to brand itself as a spa over six years ago, and with our new Jungle Spa complex, we are sure to maintain our reputation as the best spa in Fiji.